Ronald is walking down the street in West Croydon looking at his tik tok when he trips on a loose piece of paving, as he is falling he tries to save himself, however he slips on water on the pavement caused by a leak in the outer roof of Sports Direct. As he falls, he puts his hands out to try and save himself, however he pushes Tyra into Izzy who hits her head on a lamppost, when she gets up, she finds her hand is covered in blood which causes her to faint due to her fear of blood. Trying to assist her friend, Tyra attempts to put Izzy in the recovery position, however she places her head in the wrong position and Izzy chokes on her own tongue.

Whilst this is taking place, Simona, is driving past in her car to see the incident taking place. Simona is a paramedic, however she has just worked a double night shift and is driving home to start her day off. She decides to drive past the incident.

Tony meanwhile sees Tyra putting Izzy in the wrong position whilst she has fainted. He has liked Izzy for a very long time and has been trying to muster the courage to tell her how he feels. To help him do this, he decides to drink six pints (responsibly) to help provide courage. In a rage with Tyra's failure, he strikes out to punch her, however he misses and instead strikes Lacey. He is very apologetic towards Lacey, however when she faces him her left eye is swollen shut and she has severe lip bleeding. Lacey goes to hospital where she is not seen for 6 hours due to wait times. During this time, she suffers an infection in her lip. When she is seen by Dr Hayden who focusses more on her eye than her lip. It is found the infection from her lip has spread and has been caught late. By the time she is given her anti-biotics by Dr Hayden, she passes out and later dies from her infection.
