

Geography summer homework: First lesson September 2025

We have discussed today the broad range of knowledge and subject content that Geography covers. Now it is your turn to decide which Geographical topic / issue is the most important.

Please answer the following question:

Explain and justify what is the single most important geographical factor is affecting the world today?

What do you need to do:

- Write at least a one page essay to discuss your thoughts
- Explain your factor, justify why you think it is the most important factor and give clear examples to support your justification.
- Bring to your first lesson week in September

Good luck
